The Measure Will Come Up in the House on That Date

Washington, Aug. 8.—Consideration of the Railway Mail Pay Bill, revising calculations of railroad compensation for carrying mail, was concluded in the House today. A final vote will be taken Tuesday.

A vote on the Cullop amendment, removing all assistant postmasters, clerks and other employees in postoffice throughout the country from the classified civil service, was nullified by the absence of a quorum, and the amendment will be before the House Tuesday. The vote, 70 to 133, indicates that the amendment will be defeated and the original proposal in the bill, providing that assistant postmasters must pass a competitive examination, will prevail.

The House wrote into the bill today an amendment providing that an increase of approximately $100 a year, granted rural mail carriers in the Postoffice Appropriation Bill, which has been held up by the Postoffice Department must be made effective.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT FROM ARKANSAS IS APPREHENDED

A convict who had recently escaped from the Arkansas State Penitentiary at Little Rock was captured here Tuesday by City Marshal Ed Sullens. The convict was Willie Syler, a murderer. He was beating his way on a freight train when he was discovered by a couple of stockmen from Arkansas, who recognized him at once. The stockmen kept an eye on him and when the train arrived here they quietly sent word to the city marshal who nabbed the man before he suspected his discovery. He was taken to the local bastille to await the arrival of officers from the Arkansas Prison who were promptly notified by Marshal Sullens.

Syler was convicted about a year ago, of the murder of a woman near Mountain Home, Ark., and sentenced to a term of twenty-one years in prison. He had served but a few months of his term when he made his escape while working in the prison garden. When apprehended the fugitive did not deny his identity but rather seemed to be relieved and stated that he would be glad to get back to the prison again as he preferred that to the uncertainty of a fugitive's life, always fearing recapture and often suffering from exposure and lack of food. There is said to be a standing reward in Arkansas for the capture of an escaped convict. —Aurora Advertiser.
